The Art of Abstract Photography: An Intensive in Creating Unique Images In-Camera

June 1-2-3, 2018

Intentional Camera Movement (ICM) and other techniques can create images that evoke a sense of the energy in a scene, a tree, or a flower; or perhaps its movement in the breeze. As images, they are beautifully unique, painterly and, just plain fun to create! And ICM isn't limited to just landscape photography; it transforms street scenes into collages of elements and color that challenge the imagination.

The Art of Abstract Photography workshop will inspire your vision and give you a buffet of tools to expand your creative options. We'll explore camera and lens movement, the effects and control of aperture and shutter speed, the importance of using color and light distribution in composition—and more, including compositing techniques, or the combination of images for yet more creative effects.

We'll learn, work, and play from 5:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Saturday, and 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Sunday. Our time together will include:

Friday Afternoon — 3:00 p.m. — If you're staying at Mountain Lens Retreat, you may check in at 3:00 p.m. and relax or explore the grounds until we gather at 5:00 p.m.

Friday Evening — 5:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

We'll gather for drinks, hor d'oeuvres & Introductions
